Program Description: The Peace and Conflict Studies Program at Swarthmore College provides students with the opportunity to examine conflict in various forms and at levels stretching from the interpersonal to the global. The multidisciplinary curriculum explores the causes, practice and consequences of collective violence, as well as peaceful or nonviolent methods of conflict management, resolution, and transformation.

Students who minor ir Peace and Conflict Studies at Swarthmore will:

- 1. understand factors shaping human conflict, including psychological, social, cultural, political, economic, biological, religious, and historical ones.
- 2. analyze specific cases of conflict, including interpersonal, intergroup, international, and interstate disputes.
- 3. examine theories and models of peacebuilding and reconciliation and evaluate attempts to manage, resolve, or transform conflict nonviolently.
- 4. investigate forms of oppression and injustice, and their relationship to conflict, locally and globally.
- 5. explore opportunities to study topics relevant to peace and conflict through fieldwork, internships, or other experiences outside the classroom.
